

November 7, 1953

Dear Al:

Ralph Lewin [Maritime Regional Laboratory, Halifax, N.S.]
His papers are in J. Gen. Microbiol. and J. Genetics. S. Hutner and D. Bonner know him very well.

Sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg

P.S. In my own opinion, the gene-enzyme problem is likely to be rather sterile unless approached by indirection. It usually ends up [like most of Caltech] in so-called biochemical genetics, which is fine for biochemistry.

P.P.S. You already have a good man on campus, albeit not in quite the same field:
Bruce Wallace.